The LEGO Closet
It's dark in here, and there are little crunchy plastic things under your feet!  Groping around, you discover what feels like a doorknob on one wall.

Forum
You are in the HILUS/UNITn Forum where the online symposiums take place. There is a chair for the main speaker and many places to sit on the floor atop comfortable looking rugs.
Obvious exits: south to UnitN

You see UnitN slate3 here.
help UnitN slate3
UnitN slate3 (#1497):
----
Moving around:
 pick <item> on slate
    select the given menu item (either a number or partial name).
    If it is a text item, it will show it to you.
 pop slate [for n]
    go back up a level; with n supplied, goes back n levels reset slate
    reset slate to the default list of 'remember'-ed nodes goto host [port] on slate make a direct jump to a specified host. Please be careful -- at the moment this slows everyone down if the host isn't valid.

Controlling noise:
 ignore slate
    stop listening when other people fiddle with the slate watch slate
    start watching while other people fiddle with the slate show slate to person
    show the contents of the slate to someone even if they're not watching

Bookmarks:
 remember [<item>] on slate
    adds item to the default of nodes will prompt you for title
 remember on slate
 remembers the current menu choice rather than any particular item
 forget <item> on slate
    (only when looking at the default list)
 deletes the given item

In long menus and text:
 next [<n>] on slate
 prev [<n>] on slate
    move you forward/backward in the set of visible menu items.
    You can give a 'number of pages' to move forward.
 read slate
    show you the entire contents of the slate

Miscellaneous:
 stack slate
    show stack, where pop will go show <item> on slate
    show host, port number, and selection string for a given item.
 mailme slate
    if you have a valid registration address: send mail with the slate contents to your email address.

When you first make a gopher slate, you will need to use 'goto'
and then 'remember' to set up the default list of nodes.

UnitN

Welcome to the HILUS/UNITn Virtual Gallery and Workspace!
You are standing in a large, high-ceilinged white room.Along the south wall is a row of large windows facing out onto the old warehouse buildings of Vienna, Austria.
The floor here is made of a dark well-trodden wood. There are posters, photocopies, and other various bits of junk hanging all over the walls. To one side of you is a large sign explaining exactly what this space is. To read the sign type 'read intro'.
Obvious exits: enter to Green tent, north to Forum, west to Office, east to UnitN library, and out to The E&L Garden
You see Green tent, An Introduction Note, and UnitN slate2 here.

read intro
It is a large sign, it looks important, you had better read it.

Welcome to the HILUS/UNITn Virtual Gallery & Workspace!

This space was initiated by the HILUS group based in Vienna, Austria. The spaces purpose is to provide a forum for people and groups working with art incorporating new technology. The space also contains an online database of texts and images (using Gopher-space). To view these files feel free to use one of the slates lying around the rooms. If you would like to contribute either texts or images please let us know.
The Gallery & Workspace is still very much under construction and changes almost constantly, if you have any suggestions we'd love to hear them.
Any questions should be sent to Butoh or Max.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Saturday July 24th 7:00pm to 12:00pm CST
An evening of digital fun and exploration with CyberPlex. A simultaneous happening between the new center for digital arts in Minneapolis, Minnesota and the populations of cyberspace.

July 28th (time forthcoming)
Presentation of the HILUS/UNITn catalog in Vienna, Austria. Members of HILUS will be on hand for this presentation. The catalog highlights the three month

UnitN library
You have entered the library. It is a spacious room with high ceilings. Books and journals line the walls (none of which are accessible to you yet), and a nice comfy sofa for napping and reading, and perhaps engaging in livelyconversation with friends.
We are continually working on the libraries database interface and would like to hear your ideas on implementing these.
